Recommendation for Hearing Evaluation

Why get your hearing evaluated?

People with hearing loss are more likely to develop cognitive problems than people who do not have hearing loss. Even mild hearing loss can put an individual at risk for memory problems. Hearing loss can also cause memory problems to become worse over time.

Does insurance cover the cost of hearing evaluations?

Depending on your insurance provider, the costs associated with a portion or all of your hearing evaluation may be covered. Call the location at which you want your hearing tested to confirm whether they accept your insurance and what to expect in terms of out-of-pocket costs.

Next steps for scheduling your hearing evaluation:

Step 1: Choose a location at which you want to have your hearing tested. See options on the back of this page or choose your own provider.

Step 2: Call to schedule your appointment and ask if a referral from your primary care physician is required. If a referral is required, please call your primary care physician and request that they send a referral to the location at which you want to have your hearing tested.

Step 3: Attend your scheduled appointment and have your hearing evaluated. Your audiologist or ENT will provide next steps.
